CHARITY SUPER.MKT

Welcome to the first ever We Invented the Weekend festival which throws open MediaCity and Salford Quays on Saturday 3rd and Sunday 4th June to celebrate the invention of the weekend, a world changing moment that took place right here in Greater Manchester in 1843.

We're so excited to present a programme of well over 200 free events delivered through collaboration with dozens of brilliant local organisations. A huge thank you to all of our partners, supporters and the people of the City of Salford, whose collective passion and determination to create a truly inclusive and joyful event is why we're here for this massive showstopper weekend of activity, creativity and community.

So let your hair down, try new things, make new friends and let's show the world that we didn't just invent the weekend, we know how to celebrate it!
